How it started

Founded in 2019 and brought to life by friends in the community.

In 2023, we are no longer just three people. Currently, the Global NOG Alliance Team includes 5 board members.

OUR MISSION & VISION

Visions are important

What we do

We are a not-for-profit organisation here to make the internet better for everyone, by encouraging world-wide cooperation in the internet community, supporting Network Operator Groups (NOGs) & tech communities around the world, amplifying the voice of Network Operators, and identifying and fixing common operational problems.

How we do it

We help you get good, relevant speakers for your events, amplify your voice so it is heard by the international internet community, develop best practices, set you up with the online tools you need — websites, mailing lists, and more. We can also arrange training and help you develop useful networking tools. All for free.

Keep Ukraine Connected

Daniel Houben

Taskforce Lead Keep Ukraine Connected

Daniel joined in the middle of the Keep Ukraine Connected project and has been an integral part of the team ever since.

Due to his professional and collegial cooperation, we had no other choice but to make Daniel the lead for the Keep Ukraine Connected Taskforce.

The Keep Ukraine Connected Taskforce continues to work with colleagues in Ukraine to ensure that damaged infrastructure here can be quickly restored.

The core of this Taskforce is also to further develop our tool "AID COORDINATOR" and to adapt it to other threat scenarios due to the specific requirements of a war.

Keep Ukraine Connected

Our Projects in Detail

- Received donated Equipment: 30 tons
- Received donated Cash: 361 Donations/ 329 People/ 212k €
 - Trips done by all driver: 28
 - Aid Coordinator in v2.5
 - 233 Donors in our Aid Coordinator
 - 73 Requester in our Aid Coordinator

Keep Sudan Connected

Rene Fichtmueller

Planning and Concept Lead Keep Sudan Connected

Once Rene had the idea to help the Ukrainian Network Engineers and it has become a project with a global impact.

The experience that he and we as a team have gained in the first days and weeks, we would like to apply here and also help the colleagues from sdNOG and the Sudanese Network Engineers.

This is a different continent and also a different political situation. For this reason, it is not possible to simply drive across the border with a truck full of switches.

Currently there are intensive talks in the direction of the UN, WHO and the Red Cross. The goal is to use the current supply chains to bring donated equipment into the country.

Disaster Recovery Concepts

Jan Zorz

Project Lead Disaster Recovery Planning

In August 2023 the storm Zacharias hit the home of our board colleague Jan.

The high water caused flooding and also numerous landslides.

Repairing the damage is one thing, but who has the know-how to get our Internet infrastructures up and running again? Jan is currently involved in an on-site project group in Slovenia to ensure that the infrastructures are up and running again quickly.

And that was the reason for us to start this project group.

Earthquakes, storms and floods are on the rise and we all need to be prepared. With this project group, we would like to specifically address the topic of natural disasters and create concepts on how we can best respond to such scenarios.

Our Projects in Detail

Currently Jan is working on a real-world disaster in Slovenia together with local supporters.

Together with these experiences, we are forming a project team and will map all experiences into a BluePrint and make it available.

NOG Support

Florence Lavroff

Taskforce Lead NOG Support

Florence is not our good soul as a board member, no her heart also beats very intensely for all NOGs in this world.

For us as Global NOG Alliance, the core focus of our work is: "To support existing NOGs & startups!"

And for that, Florence is perfect. Currently we support about 13-15 NOGs, which we have founded together with local colleagues or we simply support them as a mentor and provide them with advice and support, or we provide them with the software they really need...

Sustainability and Regeneration

Rene Fichtmueller

Planning and Concept Lead Sustainability & Regeneration

Sustainability is currently on everyone's lips. We must be sustainable

That's basically right and, above all, important. But Rene has a different view of the whole thing.

In 2020 his daughter was born and has looked at some things on the subject and 75% of the companies, understand under sustainability actually only "greenwashing" and greenwashing is not what he wants to teach his daughter and the next generation.

That's why he's made it his mission to look for the leaders in our industry and get a global team together to work on solutions.

Sustainability is not the only issue, but sustainability and regeneration.

Sustainability and Regeneration

Our Projects in Detail

Currently we are working on a concept of the project.

Organize with the international professionals in our industry.

Building an international team from our internet industry.

Building a database and archive.

Preparing the first presentations.

Setting up the first trainings.
